Train No. 508, in charge of Conductor P. J. Dulin and Engineer Lader, struck and instantly killed Richard Morrow, an aged Negro man, yesterday afternoon. The accident occurred at the point where Liberty street crosses the North-Western tracks.

Conductor Harry Perry and Engineer James Wilson have bought a black paper which they claim can make any horse in the state eat dust.

In common with many other lines, the North-Western is planning to replace the old style section foreman's bandur with the more modern motor car. Twenty-eight have been ordered by the main office and will be distributed among the different divisions for trial. It is expected that these motors will reduce the number of section foremen, as each man will be able to cover a great deal more ground than was possible with the other cars.

Mrs. Thomas Nolan.

Last evening at half past six, Mrs. Thomas Nolan passed away at her home, 118 Pearl street. She was sick but two hours, death being brought about by apoplexy. Besides her husband, who is now in Seattle, she is survived by four daughters and six sons: Mrs. H. J. Kempel and Mrs. R. L. Fagon, of Seattle, Washington, and Anna and Mamie Nolan, of Janesville; Walter, of Fond du Lac; and Thomas, Robert, William, Frank and Edward of Janesville. She also leaves to mourn her loss two sisters, Mrs. Mary Lyons of Milwaukee, and Mrs. N. R. The services were conducted by Rev. J. W. Laughlin. The interment was in Oak Hill cemetery.

DECISION OF COURT IS AGAINST HASKELL

Rules Oklahoma Governor Had No Right to Seize Papers in Libel Case.

Guthrie, Okla., Mar. 2.—That Gov. Haskell had no right to order the seizure of papers from Scott McWayne of Brooklyn, N. Y., attorney for William R. Hearst, is the decision of the Logan county court which orders the return of the documents taken from the lawyer.

Judge Strang, who presided, handed down a lengthy decision holding that the writ of search and seizure issued under an affidavit signed by Gov. Haskell alleging that McWayne had in his possession papers which he intended to publish, thereby libeling the governor, was without sufficient fact to justify the action of the officers and ordered the papers and other property of Mr. McWayne be returned to him. In referring to the writ, Judge Strang said:

"It does not rise to the dignity of a showing calculated to satisfy the court that a crime is being committed by the defendant, such a showing as the law requires before the security guaranteed by the constitution against search and seizure shall be disturbed, for while it states that the defendant is conspiring it also shows that the plaintiff does not know any specific or definite person with whom he has conspired or is conspiring and this allegation is not followed by any alleged facts to support the allegation of conspiracy; neither does it present any facts as a foundation for what follows on information and belief that the defendant has in his possession any papers with the intent to publish the same or otherwise use them as the means of libeling the plaintiff."

Continuing the court held that the "writ itself is bad."

Owing to an agreement reached several weeks ago the papers of Mr. McWayne will remain in the custody of the court until the attorneys for the governor have decided just what action will be taken to continue the case in the higher courts.

OIL JURY IS SELECTED.

Retrial of $20,240,000 Case Begins in Chicago To-Day.

Chicago, Mar. 2.—A jury was secured in Federal Judge Anderson's court yesterday to re-try the famous $20,240,000 Standard Oil robbing case. The last venireman was accepted, by both the prosecution and the defense at four o'clock in the afternoon after 64 prospective jurors had been examined.

Judge Anderson adjourned court as soon as the jury was secured. The opening statement of the attorneys were heard this morning.

Iowan Raises a Novel Point in His Cross Bill.

Des Moines, Ia., Mar. 2.—She insists on writing poetry which somehow the "general reading public does not appreciate. But it takes lots of my money to have the stuff printed and put in book form."

This is the charge made against Elizabeth Morris by her husband, George Morris, in a cross bill filed to her petition for divorce in the district court. Since their marriage he asserts she has led him away on "wild goose chases" over the United States, at which times she sought to be close to nature, occupy all her leisure moments in writing pages of poetry.

BRITISH LORD'S SON FIGHTS FOR ESTATE

Claimant to Oakville Property Declares He Is Rightful Heir to Millions.

Madrid, Mar. 2.—Ernest Henri Battista, natural son of Lord Sackville, former British ambassador at Washington, has begun his fight in the courts of Spain to recover the vast estates of his father, which are now in the possession of Lionel Edward Sackville-West, a nephew of the deceased diplomat.

The claim of Battista is based on the ground that he is the offspring of the union between Lord Sackville and Josephine Duran de Oliva, a Spanish dancer, with whom the diplomat lived during his service in the court of Spain.

Another claimant to the estates has appeared in Granada, who declares he can prove his right by documents issued by Lord Sackville.

Battista's claim has aroused a great deal of interest throughout the kingdom.

No attempt will be made to deny that Lord Sackville lived with Josephine de Oliva as his wife and that he formally legitimized his children by her, but Lionel will contend that the dancer in 1861, 18 years prior to the birth of Ernest, contracted a marriage with a Spaniard named Oliva and that consequently Lord Sackville's legal recognition of his children is nullified. He will produce in court copies of a register of a church in Madrid, purporting to show the marriage of Ernest's mother to Oliva. These copies were procured in 1900 and the claim is made that the register was tampered with in 1901.

LIVES IN WOODS FOR THREE DAYS

WOMAN FEARS HEALTH INSPECTORS AND TAKES TO FOREST TO SAVE COWS.

GUARDS ANIMALS JEALOUSLY

Thought Officials Were of Same Dishonest Stripe as Those of Her Native Country Who Proposed to Despoil Her.

New York.—To save her three cows from rapacious officials, as she thought,

Mrs. Agatha Pazar of Jamaica, Queens borough, drove them into the woods, and lived there with the animals, guarding them jealously for three nights and days.

In her native country thieving officials robbed the timorous peasants of what they pleased. Mrs. Pazar, ignorant of English, and unable to read the notices sent to her, feared that the inspectors of the Queens county health board were of the same dishonest stripe.

They went to Mrs. Pazar's cow stable on Brown avenue to learn if it was sanitary, and found that it should be cleaned and a window cut in it. Their presence frightened Mrs. Pazar. As she watched them making notes, she was certain that they were marking her for plunder.

They went away, and in a day or two the arrival of a big envelope terrified her; had she thought of asking her neighbor to read it she would have learned that it only directed the changes in the stable which she must make.

But she took it for granted that the envelope contained a demand for her little herd by which she supports herself. So, like a cruel mother who throws her child to pursuing wolves that she may escape, Mrs. Pazar turned one cow loose, hoping to satisfy the ravenous officials. The cow wandered into a field near by, and ate so much that it died.

The changes ordered in the stable were not made, or course. Another big envelope reached Mrs. Pazar a few days later.

She was beside herself with fear, certain she was to lose her means of livelihood.

"I save my cows; my cows and I go to the woods," she said to a neighbor.

Taking a stick and a bundle of food, and wrapping a shawl over her head, Mrs. Pazar drove her precious cows to a wood near her home. She let them graze only on the edge of the woods, while she kept guard, watching if any of the dreaded inspectors approached her home. Three nights she slept in the damp, chilly woods beside the cows.

Dr. Thomas B. Buffum went to Mrs. Pazar's stable the other day to see if the health department's orders had been obeyed. The stable was empty. Dr. Buffum learned from neighbors where Mrs. Pazar and her cows were. He hurried to the woods, fearing to find her dead from exposure.

She, always on the lookout, saw him approach. Beating them, shouting shrilly at the cows, running like an eagle girl, now after one, now after another, she drove them deeper into the woods. When Dr. Buffum overtook her Mrs. Pazar faced him, and, brandishing her stick, stood prepared to defend her cows with her life.

The doctor could not make her understand what he said, although he spoke to her in four languages. Finally, by signs he reassured her. She drove the cows back to the stable. Having the hardihood of a European peasant woman who had worked in the fields all her life, Mrs. Pazar suffered little from her stay in the woods.

Sweater Nearly Causes Death.

Kewanee, Ill.—While Abraham Bryan, a farmer, was working around his cream separator the other day his sweater became caught in an overhead shaft driven by a gasoline engine which furnished the power for the separator. The sweater wound around his neck, dragging him off the floor and choking him into unconsciousness before he could call his wife in the next room. She saw his limb form a few minutes later and cut him down just in time to save his life.

THEATRE

"The First Violin"

True S. James, an actor of great experience in many famous roles, brings to the Myers theatre a production of Richard Mansfield's triumph, "The First Violin." The story told in this most modern and natural play is one of rare beauty, as renders the popular novel by Jessie Fothergill, well known. Mr. James appears in the role of Eugene (The First Violin) which was created by the late Richard Mansfield. The entire cast is one which meets all the requirements of their respective roles. Two performances will be given. The mat-

When George Arliss started and fascinated New York in Molnar's comedy, "The Devil," Harrison Grey Fiske realized that the triumph of the play—a triumph that has no parallel in recent stage history—was due to the acting of Mr. Arliss and his associates. Though urged by managers throughout the country to send out substitute companies, Mr. Flako announced at the time that he would not impose upon the public by attempting any reproduction of the triumphant performance given at the Belasco theatre, New York, but that in due time the original production would be seen in the principal cities. Mr. Flako is

A Practical Blouse.

A smart and practical blouse of dark red muslin's velveteen, seen in a shop recently, was laid entirely in tucks from armhole to armhole and closed down the front under a narrow box plait. The sleeves fitted the arms smoothly to the wrists and were tucked their entire length, graduating in size, the widest coming at the top. Ruffles of black chiffon trimmed the wrists and a high collar of dark red satin folded, edged with a ruff of black chiffon, lined with white, finished the neck. A narrow cravat tied in a bow in the front, the ends weighted with gold tassels, completed a stylish waist.

PRETTY ELLA GINGLES AND THE BATH-TUB IN WHICH SHE WAS FOUND BOUND AND WOUNDED.

Chicago, Ill.—The strangest mystery in recent Chicago police records is the case of 18-year-old Ella Gingles. Was she the victim of a plot to kill her or sell her into white slavery, or was she looking for sympathy and protection?

The facts briefly are these. Ella Gingles, who has only been in this country a short time, stated to friends who had been interested in her that she was the victim of a plot to kill her or sell her into white slavery. Wednesday she was discovered in a public bath room in the Wellington hotel clad only in night gown bound in the tub, which was half filled with bloody water. She was removed to the Frances Willard hospital, where she now lies at the point of death, with over twenty-five wounds of more or less serious nature upon her body. Parflek H. O'Donnell, her attorney, has said that she was attacked

WITNESS IS SOLD TO THE DEFENSE

Cooper Defense Buys Export from the State.

DEAL MADE IN THE COURT

Unusual Transaction Carried Out to Get Testimony About Carmack Autopsy—Illinois Man Testifies About Senator Handling Revolver.

Nashville, Tenn., Mar. 2.—For the state to sell one of its witnesses to the defense in a murder trial is, according to lawyers, something absolutely new in the history of criminal jurisprudence in this country. This is what happened yesterday in the case of Col. D. W. Cooper, Robin Cooper and John D. Sharp who are on trial for slaying former Senator Carmack. The barter and sale took place in the courtroom.

The subject of the commercial transaction was Dr. McPhee Glasgow, one of the most eminent surgeons of the state, who had been employed by the prosecution to go to Columbia and perform an autopsy on Senator Carmack's body. He did so and reported his findings to the prosecutors. He was subpoenaed by the state but was not used. The defense learned of the autopsy and summoned the doctor.

Raised Point of Ethics.

Dr. Glasgow told counsel for the defense that his services as an expert had been retained by the state and that he would not discuss the case except with the attorney general. The defense asked the court this morning to instruct the doctor to talk to its counsel. The court complied partially by telling the doctor that it would be proper for him to talk with the defendant's attorneys if he had any information that would throw light on the killing. The state objected, and the doctor stood firm. Unless the state, which employed him, ordered him to consult with the opposition, he declined to talk. The state suggested that the defense swear the doctor and put him on the stand. The defense resisted the suggestion and declared it would put no witness on the stand without knowing to what he would testify. Then the state counsel and Attorney General McCarran made this astounding proposition: That if the defense would pay the state the cost of the autopsy, including Dr. Glasgow's fee, the state would waive its rights.

As Judge Hart said, "the defense wanted to see the goods before they bought," and they offered to confer with Dr. Glasgow and if they decided to use him as a witness to reimburse the state.

Sell Goods in Bag.

To this counter proposition the prosecutors entered an emphatic veto.

"Pay whether you use him or not," they said, and the court's comment: "They want to sell the goods in a bag."

There was another heated conference and the defense bought the goods in the bag and Dr. Glasgow became their witness. The significance of his testimony was that any one of the three wounds was necessarily and instantly fatal and that if the senator did not fire the first shots he could not have lived at all.

The only other senatorial witness of the day was S. J. Blinn of Danville, Ill., who claimed to have seen Senator Carmack fingerling his revolver and testing the cylinder a few moments before the shooting began. He was badly confused on cross-examination, however, and contradicted himself on many important points.

BUBBLE PRICKED

The opposition to Senator Stephen's re-election was like a bubble pricked yesterday afternoon when State Senator Blaine, who made the sensational charges that led to the investigation, stepped out on the witness stand before the special committee.

It was like a bubble which has been pricked and its charges developed simply into hearsay evidence, conversations with men radically opposed to Senator Stephen with no verification to substantiate one iota of the testimony he offered.

The Milwaukee Free Press, which keeps close watch on the doings of the investigation committee, characterizes Blaine and his testimony as a myth and refers to the sensational episode in the following language:

"From the time when Senator Blaine made his specific charges of corruption in the senatorial primary, because of which many republican senators decided to withhold their votes from the nominee of the senatorial primary, until the charge could be investigated, he persistently refused to present any proof of any corruption, which he might have."

"Finally, when forced to take the witness stand he answered such questions as he pleased, refused to answer others, questioned the honesty of members of the committee, and pleaded his constitutional privilege as a member of the assembly as witness, waiting him from being called as witness."

"He did not produce a scintilla of evidence to support his charges. When finally driven into a corner he said he had documentary evidence, under oath and key, which he would produce on a day selected by himself. That was yesterday."

"This documentary evidence, which he said he was so carefully safeguarding, lost some Stephenson man should get hold of it, he finally produced yesterday, under compulsion."

"It consisted of a letter from J. A. Stone of Reedburg, saying that some one had told him that he had $300 of Stephenson's money to be expended in the campaign in Sauk county, and of two memoranda in his own (Blaine's) handwriting of a conversation he had had with an editor of a newspaper which has bitterly opposed and vilified Mr. Stephenson, the truth of whose statements he had made, he said, no effort to learn."

"On the strength of one of these wholly unsupported and untrue statements Mr. Blaine had charged a reputable lawyer with violation of the criminal statutes of the state."

"And this was the documentary evidence of which Blaine had said that if he produced it, some of the parties might be warned and stopped from telling what they knew."

"Previously, when asked if he had any personal knowledge of corruption, Blaine had testified that he had none except the documentary evidence which had come to him and which he produced yesterday."

"What do the republican members of the senate who were so grossly misled by Blaine think of him now? And of his specific charges?"

"What will the people of the state think of these republican senators, who have allowed themselves to be made participants in a conspiracy not only to repudiate the primary election law, but who have permitted Blaine to put them in a position where they have given him support in reckless and false charges against reputable lawyers and innocent citizens?"

Blair is at present going through a radical anti-saloon campaign. It will probably result in the Lime City becoming a dry town, with no saloons and a close watch kept upon clubs of the fly-by-night quality. The reason for this sudden change in sentiment in this adjacent manufacturing city can all be laid directly to the activity of the saloon proprietors in local politics. Last spring they sought to dictate the election and failed and the pro-liquor campaign of this year is the result. Janesville is so close that Blair's example would not be hard to follow and some of the local liquor dealers are forgetting the lesson taught to the Blair brothers.

More clever work by the anti-Saloon men kept the legislature in joint session from carrying out the will of the voters of the state and electing Isaac Stephenson United States Senator yesterday. Egged on by radical papers who like nothing better than the misrepresentation of truth, these men are making the state the laughing stock of the republic of which Wisconsin is an integral part.

On Thursday a new President of the United States takes the oath of office and Washington is in expectation of his arrival. It is a great occasion and one which is memorable in the history of the world. It is a change of Presidents, but not a change of policies and the readjustments which usually follow a change in administrations is lacking in this case.

DR. JEKYLL AND MR. HYDE.

Charles Devine, a letter carrier in a Pennsylvania city, was arrested for robbing the United States mails.

In his career is to be found a striking parallel to Stevenson's weird tale of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

When Devine was sober he was an honest, industrious, capable worker. Let him take a few drinks of liquor, and his whole nature was changed. As the detective put it:

"His eyes would draw nearer together, his mouth narrow to a thin slit, and a general air of thrifty cunning was noticeable by a close observer."

It is said that no matter how much he was intoxicated Devine never showed it by a flushed face or thick utterance or staggering gait.

The cunning thief covered his tracks for several years.

As by the wind of a maelstrom the invisible spirit of wine transformed this man from an honest worker to a shifty thief.

There are others.

Many a man is all right when he is sober and all wrong when he drinks.

He may not be changed into a cunning criminal like Devine, but the devil that is in him, egged, will surely come out, roaring, shaken with rage and lusting to inflict pain on his follows.

There is a little devil in every bottle of whisky.

He who pampers his appetite for liquor will find, like Dr. Jekyll, that "The insatiable horror is knit to him closer than a wife, closer than an eye; layed in his flesh where he hears it mutter and feels its struggles to be born."

"So long as Mr. Hyde—his other self—waited for him around the corner Dr. Jekyll was never safe.

So long as a few drinks over at the corner saloon will release the brute that is in him no man who tampers with liquor is safe.

Moreover—

There is in each of us—whether reigned by liquor or something else—a Mr. Hyde. The Jekyll in us has ideals and a desire to realize them. The Hyde in us blots the ideals and keeps us from making our dreams come true.

The devil that was in Devine overcame the angel that was in him.

Will the spirit of evil that is in us prove stronger than the spirit of good?

Must Have the Wishbone. A Connecticut man gleefully announces that he has succeeded in brooding a duck which has no breastbone. Nobody who has ever eaten a duck will object to this new variety, but the ambitious Connecticut man should be warned that any attempt to produce a chicken without a wishbone will be resented by several million children, to say nothing of grown-ups.

"On the strength of one of these wholly unsupported and untrue statements Mr. Blaine had charged a reputable lawyer with violation of the criminal statutes of the state."

"And this was the documentary evidence of which Blaine had said that if he produced it, some of the parties might be warned and stopped from telling what they knew."

"Previously, when asked if he had any personal knowledge of corruption, Blaine had testified that he had none except the documentary evidence which had come to him and which he produced yesterday."

"What do the republican members of the senate who were so grossly misled by Blaine think of him now? And of his specific charges?"

"What will the people of the state think of these republican senators, who have allowed themselves to be made participants in a conspiracy not only to repudiate the primary election law, but who have permitted Blaine to put them in a position where they have given him support in reckless and false charges against reputable lawyers and innocent citizens?"

the echo in world's events to be properly filled, after his African vacation, by Theodore Roosevelt?"

ALLIGATOR KILLS BIG EAGLE.

Fierce Battle in Air Between Bird and Reptile.

San Francisco.—A fierce battle in the air between a baby alligator and a full-grown eagle was the unusual sight offered spectators at Golden Gate park the other day. A big eagle built over the trees and ponds, and Bismarck, the eagle, has been allowed the freedom of the place for months. In one of the ponds several alligators are kept, and it was with one of these Bismarck started the fight that ended in the death of the eagle.

A keeper had thrown a piece of raw meat to the alligator, which was dozing on the bank of the pool, and the reptile seized it and started for the water. From its perch above the pool the eagle saw the meat, and swooping down on it, carried both meat and alligator into the air, the reptile refusing to loosen his hold on the food.

For half an hour the fight lasted, the big bird lifting the alligator from the water four different times, only to be beaten off by the repeated blows of the armored tail of the reptile. The last effort of the eagle to shake its antagonist from the coveted meat resulted in the death of the bird, as the alligator first stunned its captor with a blow from its tail, then, reaching up with its powerful jaws, severed the eagle's neck. The alligator fell to the pool again and swam away apparently unharmed.

YOUTHFUL BANDITS CONFESS TO COLD BLOODED VILLAINY

FUNERAL SERVICES WERE HELD TODAY

Remains of the Late George Sale Laid at Rest in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Fred Harten and Bert Kreuger of Evansville planned to beat and rob Banker Carpenter of Brodhead. Through the efforts of Chief of Police Appleby, Marshal Thomas Cavanaugh of Brodhead, Marshal Cal Brundt and Officer Fred Gillman of Evansville, the pair of youthful bandits who beat George Chase into a state of insensibility at his home near Brodhead Saturday evening were captured last night. Chief Appleby found several people in Brodhead, who had seen the pair and could positively identify one of them, Fred Harten, who had formerly lived there, and when word reached him that the bandit who was stolen from the C. M. & P. S. section-house at Oconomowoc and transferred to the C. & N. W. tracks at Hanover Junction, had been found ditched near Atton, he called Marshal Broughton by telephone and requested him to visit the last named locality. Meanwhile both Harten and his companion, Bert Krueger, were in Evansville, but early in the evening they came to Janesville on a freight in company with Jacob ("Club") Allen, Marshal Broughton on his return from Beloit nabbed Harten at the local depot and at 12:45, Officer Gillman, acting on a request from Broughton to keep a sharp lookout for Kreuger, first visited the latter's home and shortly after eleven o'clock pounced upon him as he was emerging from one of the door coal sheds, after dead-heading it back from the Bower City. Each youth, after being put through a "swinging process," made a complete confession.

Planned to Rob a Banker

Fred Harten is 20 years of age and not only bears a bad reputation himself, but is also a near relative of the Moffett boys of Beloit. Kreuger is a father simple-minded, gullible-looking youth of 20 years who had been working recently on a farm near Brooklyn. When Harten, in a secret conference at the south end of the Evansville depot, Friday afternoon, assured him that Barker C. W. Carpenter of Brodhead had once "billeted" his father for a large sum of money in an Oklahoma land deal and outlined a plan for not only "getting even" but also relieving the old Carpenter of any money he might have about his house or person, Kreuger listened eagerly and at once agreed to become party to the undertaking.

Walked to Brodhead

Starting at half-past one o'clock Saturday afternoon, the pair traversed the 16 miles to Brodhead on foot and arrived there just about dark. Harten armed himself with a piece of carbide spring found in the rear of a blacksmith shop and through a window in Carpenter's house they kept watch of his movements during the supper hour. As soon as he had started on his evening stroll downtown, they planned to enter the house, bind and gag Mrs. Carpenter, ransack the house, and lay in wait for the head of the household when he should return. Mr. Carpenter left presently, as anticipated, and Harten, after adjusting a pair of blue goggles for a disguise, boldly opened the front door and entered the hallway. Mrs. Carpenter, in the rear of the house, heard the noise and at first supposed that her husband had come back for something or other. But when she received no answer to her calls to him, became alarmed and ran out the back door and over to the home of neighbor, from which place a telephone messenger was sent to the police station. The officers, on their arrival, found no traces of the supposed burglars.

Attack on George Chase

Harten and Kreuger, meantime, had made for the outskirts of the city. They were extremely hungry after their hard travails and decided to break into some house and obtain food. George Chase's place happened to be the nearest after the design was formulated and they rapped on the door and roused him out of bed. As he opened the portal, Harten swung on him with the piece of carbide spring. Chase fought vigorously but was finally knocked insensible by repeated blows raised on his head and face. The bandits placed his limp body in a chair and after carefully wiping the blood from their hands, calmly investigated the larder and spread out a meal before themselves and their unconscious and involuntary host. They also ransacked the house and obtained $1.01 in change, which they divided. After a time Chase recovered his senses and begged the intruders not to take his watch away with them. When they had eaten heartily and had satisfied themselves that there was no more cash available, they warned Chase to make no move to stir from his home before morning, on penalty of death, and took their departure. Harten towed the piece of carbide spring into the Brodhead school yard and about 11 o'clock the pair set out on foot for Oconomowoc.

Theft of the Handcar

Arriving at the latter place, they broke into a section-house and helped themselves to a handcar for a pleasant down-grade ride to Hanover Junction. At Hanover they transferred the car to the North-Western tracks and were pulling into Atton when they thought, they saw the headlight of a locomotive approaching in the distance and ditched their vehicle. Subsequently they caught a freight train which landed them in Evansville at five o'clock Sunday morning.

Various Theories

Both youths were at the Janesville lock-up this morning and will be taken to Green county for their hearing at seven o'clock this evening. Officer Gillman has a theory that Harten got his inspiration for the bold undertaking from the records of the Cronin murder at Janesville, though it is quite evident that the youth has knocked about the world a good deal and is no innocent gone wrong. He first told the officers that he was in Buffalo on the night of the 26th of January and subsequently placed himself in Clifton on that date. The Cronin murder was committed on the 21st. It was the intention of Chief Appleby to question him closely this afternoon regarding his recent whereabouts.

UNIFORMS FOR MEN'S BASKETBALL TEAMS

Team Colors for Each Five Chosen With Suits of That Hue—Last Night's Winners.

Interest in basketball has become very strong among the members of the Business Men's class of the Y. M. C. A., and they have picked colors for each team and are being equipped with uniforms of the same shade as their class color. Orange was selected by J. L. Wilcox's players; red by H. H. Blane's; blue by C. Grant's. Considerable rivalry is shown at the games every Monday and Friday afternoon, each team trying to be at the head and maintain their position there. Last evening Wilcox's team defeated F. C. Grant's players by the score of eight to two, in the game A. J. Harris' guarding alone prevented Grant's five from making more scores. Dr. Kennedy and Dr. Wolcott starred for F. C. Grant's five. S. Lovejoy's men went down to defeat before the players of H. H. Blane, who won from them by 10 to 6.

The indoor baseball games of the business men were won by Blane's men who defeated Harris' team by the close score of 6 to 4. The Murphy's won from the Spuds in the game played by the Senior kickball team.

TAFT IS IN A HAPPY MOOD

Says no Reason to Be Otherwise, He Says.

TALKS AT "CUPID DINNER"

Pays Glowing Tribute to Roosevelt, Whom He Says Will Rank in History with George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

Washington, Mar. 2.—William H. Taft is ready for the word that will make him president of the United States. With the greatest event that could possibly come into his life as a citizen only two days off he is showing the happy spirit that has made him famous. He was a guest last night at the dinner of the Taft Philippine expedition and made a happy little speech.

The apparent splendid physical condition, the universal good humor and absence from worry and nervous strain of Mr. Taft make a uniformly gratifying impression on the many statesmen, politicians and friends who are received by him daily. His joyful remark is that "his inaugural address is prepared, his cabinet selected, the inaugural committee in preparing all details for the ceremony on Thursday, and why should he feel otherwise than comfortable?"

President Roosevelt has given what is regarded as the White House as a final and convincing answer to all reports that there is bad feeling between himself and President Taft. He has asked Mr. and Mrs. Taft to be his guests the night of Wednesday, March 3, and they have accepted.

Mr. Taft is quoted as paying the following tribute to President Roosevelt:

"It is difficult for one with the depth of affection that I feel for Theodore Roosevelt to give a judicial estimate of the man, but I verily believe that when the historian twenty-five or fifty years hence shall describe his administration and the influence that he has exerted as the chief magistrate of the country, he will accord to him a place with Washington and Lincoln, and that he will treat him, as we are prone now to regard Washington and Lincoln, as providentially raised, up to meet an exigency in the country's history that was only less important than the revolution and the civil war."

Attends the "Cupid Dinner."

The Philippine dinner last night was arranged by Miss Mabel Boardman and Representative McKinley of Illinois, and was the most pretentious of the enjoyable occasions which this famous party indulges in every year. There were present seven United States senators and 24 members of the house of representatives, besides a number of otherwise distinguished personages which rallied to the Orient with Mr. Taft in 1905. The trip attained most of its fame because of the instrumental accomplishments resulting.

Representative Nicholas Longworth and Miss Alice Roosevelt became betrothed; Representative Bourke Cockran met Miss Ide, daughter of Judge Ide of the Philippine commission, who is now Mrs. Cockran; and Representative Swanson Sherley of Kentucky met Miss Mignon Critton of Staten Island, to whom he became engaged. The dinner took place in the banquet hall of the Willard hotel, which was rich in decorations and floral setting.

The president-elect in his speech was in a particularly happy mood as he recalled the various places of visit and the lasting memory which had been left. His conclusion was not only a most cordial invitation that the members of the party should always find a welcome at the White House during his occupancy, but an expressed desire that the Philippine party might be to the incoming administration what "the rough riders" organization had been to the last.

Crowds Throng Capital.

The national capital is the Mecca toward which the inaugural hosts are making their pilgrimage. The advance guard of the throng which quadrangularly visits Washington to witness the induction into office of a new president began yesterday in earnest. The visitors have swelled the city's population by many thousands.

Death in Ball Room.

The first casualty incident to the inaugural preparations occurred at the pension building, where the inaugural ball is to be held. While working on one of the stands, E. Stoville Swain, a carpenter, fell a distance of 16 feet, striking his head on the stone floor below, receiving a fractured skull from which he died later.

Hopkins Disappointed by Taft.

Washington, Mar. 2.—President-elect Taft told Senator Hopkins, who appealed to him for aid yesterday, that he will not interfere in the Illinois senatorial fight one way or the other. Senator Hopkins was a good deal disappointed at the outcome of his interview with the president-elect, but tried not to show it.

Maine Republicans Make Gains.

Bingham, Me., Mar. 2.—Gains were made by the Republicans in the state elections held yesterday in 11 Maine cities. Republican mayors were elected in nine of them, a gain of two over last year, and Republican city governments in eight.

To Kill Sunday Baseball.

Jefferson City, Mo., Mar. 2.—The committee on criminal jurisprudence of the house of representatives of the Missouri general assembly has reported favorably a bill prohibiting base ball on Sunday.

Two Charming Wraps.

The most stunning fur wrap of the moment for dress occasions, and the one that will hold its own until time to discard heavy wraps, is the directoire capo of seal. The ends, front and back run into decided points, and the sleeves are formed by clever drapings of the capo caught under the arm with a passementerie button and loop. The capo is completed with a band of handsome embroidery done on bright green satin.

Another charming wrap of directoire persuasion is of Hudson bay sable, with the skins matched to give a striped effect. Short wide sleeves, ending with deep turned-back cuffs, fall over long undersleeves of lace frills over cream-colored satin. There is no collar attached to this sumptuous garment, and the neck opening is "V" shape, crowding the bust and closing with three large metal buttons.

To Make the Hair Fluffy.

Flattened hair is always trying to the face and with the present hats almost impossible. If your hair is not inclined to fluff naturally try wetting it with equal parts of green soap and water.

Rinse thoroughly with fresh water and while the hair is still wet rub your hands through it again and again until it dries.

Do not use this treatment too often, as it has a tendency to make the hair dry and brittle.

Prevent Gored Skirt Sagging.

To prevent a gored or circular skirt sagging at the seams now in with the seam when making a strip of narrow tape. This will add wonderfully to retaining the shape of the skirt.

Keep Close to Nature.
For since his blessed kingdom was first established in the green fields by the lakeside, with humble fishermen for his subjects, the easiest way into it hath ever been through the wicket-gate of a lowly and grateful fellowship with nature.—Henry Van Dyke.

Wasted Energy.
A woman cook shuns at her employer simply because he remarked that the biscuits were heavy. What a waste of energy! She should have stood by calmly and permitted him to eat a few.—New York Herald.

Roads to Unhappiness.
Money and time are the heaviest burdens of life, and the unhappiest of all mortals are those who have more or other than they know how to use.—Johnson.

We're ready to meet every requirement with the largest and most complete showing of Spring merchandise of every description that we have ever gathered for your consideration. Now, don't delay your visit, for we're anxious to have you pass judgment on our selections when we are looking our best.

SPRING SUITS

New and advance Spring styles in women's tailored wear will be out in dress parades this coming week—the most complete and authoritative Spring showing ever made in this locality so early in the season.

These new garments come to us from tailors whose finest product is always to be seen at this store—and only at this store in Janesville. They reflect the best and newest of Parisian and American ideas and contain the very choicest of late weaves and patterns in the most fashionable materials.

It is impossible today to describe these suits in detail. You will want to see them anyhow—and we'll be glad to show you our entire collection.

Our prices will more than meet with your approval.

All of the new shades are to be found here. Grays, about eight shadings, including the soft dove shades so hard to find, beautiful shades of tan in plain and striped cloths and hard finished worsted with a silk luster, Reseda greens in fancy stripes, plain greens, and endless variety of styles and trimmings. Six shades in blue from navy and bright blues to the blue and green shadings that are new this spring. Rose shades are much in evidence. Shading from the wisteria to the latest shades of rose. Black—We make it a point always to show a good line of black suits. Good serviceable materials and priced to suit any purse. Our sizes are most complete.

$23.00 SUITS

We are making a special run on these. One is a black and white shepard check in all wool cloth, jacket the long hipless effect, large pocket laps, black satin cuffs and collar, satin lined; the jacket and skirt trimmed with cloth buttons to match.

ANOTHER $23.00 SUIT

Is made of satin stripe cloth fine close worsted, plain coat trimmed with buttons, bengaline silk cuffs and collars, lined with messaline silk, jacket 36 inches long. We have this suit in all the leading color, rose, reseda green, French grays, navy, black, etc. This is one of the best suits we have ever offered for $23.00 and one will have to look far and wide in order to match it.

Among our many beautiful suits some are especially pretty. We have a very natty suit in navy blue stripe worsted, beautifully tailored, bengaline silk collar and sleeve trimmings, ornaments made of the same on sleeves and pocket laps. The coats are hipless styles, pearl gray messaline lined, skirt nine gores with fold, and ornaments to match. Especially priced, $28.00.

WHITE PLAGUE'S HAVOC AT HOMETUBERCULOSIS PROBLEM IS RIGHT WITHIN CITY'S GATES.29 DEATHS IN TWO MONTHS

The Record Submitted by Health Officer G. C. Wauke to the Common Council Last Night—Milk Supply Blamed.

TWENTY-NINE DEATHS FROM TUBERCULOSIS WITHIN THE CORPORATE LIMITS OF JANESEVILLE SINCE THE FIRST OF JANUARY! By far the greater number of them young people with no trace of the disease in their family history! "THE MAJORITY OF THESE VICTIMS WERE INFECTED THROUGH MILK." I am sure that if smallpox or any other contagious disease claimed so great toll WITHIN THE PERIOD OF A WHOLE YEAR, something would be done about it and in a big hurry, too!"—Health Officer G. C. Wauke.

The above bomb, it is altogether likely, was hurled into the council chamber by the head of the Health Department last evening, with unfeigned forethought. Many months ago Dr. Wauke tried to prevail upon the aldermen to pass an ordinance requiring a careful inspection of the cattle from which Janeville draws its milk-supply and strict sanitary precautions in the handling of the same. The measure was not drawn up in a satisfactory manner and this provided sufficient excuse for pigeon-holing the entire matter, along with numerous other propositions of more or less importance which have been piling up "on the shelf" since last August. One of those forlorn, deserted, and forgotten lines of action had its impetus in a brave threat to require a good and sufficient bond from some suspected transients merchants. However, it is only fair to state that the six months' limitation in the latter instance has now expired, and the firm is still here—so the enterprise has neither gained nor lost anything by neglect.

New Measure Called For

With regard to this milk problem, however, the City Fathers have been suddenly awakened to the fact that something, perhaps, ought to really be done. Chairman Dunn of the Judiciary committee, to whom the Health Officer's report was referred, moved that it be accepted and that the city clerk be instructed to request Dr. Wauke to bring in a new milk ordinance that will keep within the boundaries of the charter. He also consented to an amendment, proposed by Ald. Buchholz, which advises the physician to confer with the City Attorney so that when the measure is presented it will be in all respects legal. The motion as amended was passed, in justice to the landlord, C. E. Brown, the Doctor included in his report a statement of the failure of the state bacteriologists to find any traces of typhoid germs in the water from the well on Edward Baumann's premises and a milk culture let down into the cesspool. He also made formal report of the fact that examination had shown no traces of hydrocephalus in Otto Krontz' dog which was executed in suspicion and demand of the neighbors, the police officers.

Twelve Fires This Year.

A quarterly report submitted by Chief H. C. Klein of the fire department chronicled 12 alarms since the first of the year—3 of them still alarms—aggregate loss not to exceed $200. The new steamer, upon being tested, delivered more water than called for in the contract, and would supplement the department's "shower bath" potency and accommodations by 900 gallons a minute. C. J. Murphy had been appointed to take charge of this apparatus and in view of his additional services and responsibility, the best recommended that $10 a month be added to his salary. Credit to the fire and water fund for the money equivalent of 5,000 pounds brick left over from the 1898 work at the Spring Brook station was also requested. Horse and wagons were in good condition, though the latter, in spots needed a touching up with paint and varnish. On motion of Ald. Buchholz the chief was instructed to have this latter work done. The finance committee's report on bills, which was adopted, included an appropriation of $6,876 to the Akron Co. for the new engine. No action was taken with regard to the increased salary recommendation.

Departmental Reports.

Favorable action was taken on the report of the board of education for February and March on that of the municipal court, which showed that the small sum of $29.80 had been collected in fees, fines, and penalties. Reports from George Appleby and John Brown as City Marshal were laid on the table. The former's accounting showed that the total number of arrests in February was 72. The offenders were classified as follows: stealing coal 8, vagrancy 2, larceny 4, assault and battery 5, suspect 1, returned for duration 3, returned for Madison 1, drunkenness 48. Fifty seven were taken to court and 11 were discharged. Arrests were made as follows: Appleby 14, Brown 4, Fath 1, Morrison 12, Mason 9, Sam Brown 4, Chumpton 10, Dunn 1, Connor 1, Pearce 1.

New Sewers Recommended.

A petition from eleven Fifth avenue residents, asking that a sewer be laid on that thoroughfare from Glen st. to W. N. Walker st. was received and referred to the committee on sewers. The latter committee was granted further time for the consideration of the street assessment committee's report recommending that sewers be laid on the following streets during the year 1900: In District No. 11—

Fifth avenue, from Glen st. to Walker st.

Glen street, from Fifth ave. to Prairie ave.

Prairie avenue, from Glen st. to Hyatt st.

Hyatt street, from Prairie ave. to Yuba st.

Yuba street, from Hyatt to Walker st.

avenue to the northerly boundary line of said district, 198 feet southerly from the south line of South Third street.

Miscellaneous Business.

Major Headless' appointment of Sam Brown as special policeman from March 1 to May 20, 1900, was confirmed. The street commissioner was directed by an order to have the drinking fountain on Western and cedar avenues connected with the water on Center avenue. All of the aldermen were present at the session.

MERCHANT MARINE FULLY DISCUSSED

BETTER RELATIONS WITH THE SOUTH AMERICAN REPUBLICS DESIRED.

LANDIS OF INDIANA TALKS

Gives His View Upon the Situation as It Exists and What is Needed to Better Conditions.

Washington, D. C., March 2.—A strong plan for better trade relations with Latin-America and for the building up of a merchant marine was made in the House of Representatives today by Mr. Landis of Indiana. He declared that it would soon be known that there would have been a clash in mutual hope and ambition which, he said, from the very start, would have cemented social and business bonds with those countries that would forever have foisted any or all European nations from gaining a primacy in the commercial affairs and general interests of the people to the south of the United States. "But it has not worked out in this way," he said. "We would not say that it was the fault of the Latin-American countries. On the contrary, it was a matter of record that on several occasions in your long past the strongest of those nations made overtures to the United States, which, if accepted, he said, would have worked wonders through the years that followed. But there seemed to be an assumed loftiness on our part," he said, "a superciliousness that chilled and drove away those who should have been our most intimate neighbors and our most confidential friends." Landis, he said, saw the mistake and took the first step to rectify it. Harrison, Cleveland and McKinley followed. "In a way but not with any great enthusiasm," he said, "it remained for President Roosevelt and Secretary Root 'to approach and surround and invest,' and inspire the situation so as to life the Pan-American idea high up, so high up that the whole world is today eagerly watching whatever move we make to regain lost ground, and to effect an entrance into territory which we have not only neglected, but toward which we seem to have displayed a studied indifference."

Mr. Landis spoke of the approaching completion of the Panama Canal and said that "unless we wake up it will be proportionately late to rectify it." The only hope of the United States winning by the canal, he said, "rests in our taking steps, immediate steps, to share in the coming progress and prosperity of Latin-America—to get into their fold and inviting market with energy and courage." In his judgment the time had come for the people of the United States to make a specialty of Latin-American. "We want to make up our minds to get better acquainted," he said. "There is every evidence that such a determination on our part would be heartily reciprocated by the people of those twenty republics." Those twenty republics, he declared, are now carrying on one-third of the foreign trade of the eastern hemisphere. The whole situation, he maintained, with reference to Latin-America, had changed during the past decade, he said, "and that any citizen of the United States who does not appreciate it is deaf, dumb and blind."

In speaking of the infrequency with which the American flag is seen on the high seas, Mr. Landis declared that it was due to prejudice alone that sailors had not been granted for the building up of the merchant marine. The American flag, he said, today is almost a stranger to every ship except the man-of-war, but he said, "we are going to put it back on the sea. The manufacturers are going to help us put it back on the sea. The merchants are going to help us put it back on the sea. The farmers, east and west, north and south, who have been misled, and who have more at stake than any other class of our people, they will learn the facts, prejudices will be destroyed, and they will help us put the American flag back up."

ORDERS GRAND JURY INQUIRY FOR PRISON

Michigan Penitentiary's Alleged Scan-dal to Be Investigated Under Court Instructions.

Jackson, Mich., Mar. 2.—In addition to ordering an investigation of the state penitentiary, Judge Potter yesterday told the grand jury to probe the charge that wealthy and influential friends of Will Sorsby secured him from the authorities after he had killed Post Office Inspector Charles Fitzgerald. He warned the jurors that the social prominence of the persons must not interfere with their indictment.

Judge Potter said: "The primary purpose which has led to your being convened was to insure a careful and complete investigation of affairs at the state prison in the city of Jackson, so far as to ascertain whether any parties officially connected with it, otherwise doing business with the state in relation to the prison, have been guilty of a violation of the statutes of this state so as to win an indictment at your hands and their subsequent prosecution."

Mishonesty and misfeasance in office have apparently become a crying evil. It matters not who the official, person or party may be, nor what may be his position, power or influence. All should obey and observe the laws of the land. None should be exempt from punishment in case of their violation."

Head as Argentine Plotters. Chicago, Mar. 2.—Charles Drowde, 160 North State street, and John Koenig, 406 La Salle avenue, both photographers, alleged to be implicated with high public officials of the Argentine republic in an international counterfeiting and smuggling plot involving thousands of dollars, were held to the federal grand jury yesterday afternoon by United States Commissioner Mark A. Fento, under $1,000 bonds each. Robert Empett Scott, alleged "king" of the band, was taken into custody at Anderson, Ind., Saturday afternoon.

Another Dayton Woman Attacked.

Dayton, O., Mar. 2.—The boldest and most vicious assault since the murder of Lizzie Phair, occurred in this city in broad daylight yesterday afternoon. The victim is Mrs. May Meares, a pretty Hungarian woman, who was seized by a negro and only escaped after he had torn almost all her clothing from her and had beaten her severely about the face in an attempt to drag her into a shed.

Tennessee Senators Still Exiles.

Nashville, Tenn., Mar. 2.—The 13 senators who failed to answer roll call Friday morning, thereby breaking quorum, are still outside the state's borders, and the legislative tangle continues.

The Unknown Quantity.

I doubt whether the wisest of us know what our own motives are, and whether some of the actions of which we are the greatest will not surprise us when we trace them, as we shall one day, to their source.—Hancock.

Despair and Despondency

No one but a woman can tell the story of the suffering, the despair, and the despondency endured by women who carry a daily burden of ill-health and pain because of disorders and derangements of the delicate and important organs that are distinctly feminine. The tortures so bravely endured completely upset the nerves if long continued. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive cure for weakness and disease of the feminine organism.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG,

SICK WOMEN WELL.

It relieves inflammation, heals ulceration and soothes pain. It tones and builds up the nerves. It fits for wifehood and motherhood. Honest medicine dealers sell it, and have nothing to urge upon you as "just as good." If you want a doctor that tells all about woman's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 21 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing envelope, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers. In handsome cloth-binding, 31 stamps.

any one a question to kick?"

There was no response, the only sounds middle being the soft lapping of the water and the deep breathing of the men. I could distinguish them leaning eagerly forward, but the faces were undecipherable in the gloom.

"You understand clearly?"

"Ay, ay, Mr. Stephens," said Tuttle, his nasal voice had completely lost all its former trace of insolence.

"Then pull away slowly and noiselessly; don't hurry; we'll give you plenty of time to get in. Good-by, and good luck to you."

The balanced oars dipped gently into the water, scarcely rippling it, and the sharp-tempered whaleboat glided away into the surrounding blackness like a ghost.

"All right now, Do Nova," I whispered, "I'll go forward into the bow. Keep her head off about a point and watch out for signals."

We slipped through the water silently, the sound of the dipping oars blades little more audible than the suppressed breathing of the oarsmen. Confident that if any eyes were watching from the deck they were not likely to be directed astern, we made wide detour, creeping cautiously beneath the slight bulge of the yacht's side, until the fellow behind me fastened his whaleboat firmly into the after-chains. Breathlessly we waited listening, but no sound reached us other than the slight hiss of escaping steam.

"Hold hard!" I whispered, the word passing back from man to man. "Two rows with the boat, the rest follow me."

I crept silently up into the chains and peered cautiously over onto the open deck. It was wrapped in darkness and silence, the sole gleam of revealing light coming from out upon the open main-hatch; and that only the merest glimmer slightly illuminating the ship amidships. There was a lamp alight in the after-cabin, but the shades were drawn so closely I could scarcely perceive its presence. I became aware that Do Nova stood beside me.

"There is certainly no watchman aft," I announced softly, "unless he be found upon the other side of the cabin. Hatten down the companionway while I examine the deck. Two of you men come with me."

We dropped over the low rail together, moving silently in our stocking-feet. The roar of the cabin, forming the quarter-deck, extended clear to the rail. We groped over this shadowed space as though exploring a cave, encountering nothing except a few camp stools, although my fingers discovered a goodly-sized boat swinging from davits across the stern. From the opposite side we could peer forward toward the dim light streaming from out the hatch, the deck being thus fairly revealed as far as the funnel. Beyond all remained black and impenetrable. A man sat upon a bench against the side of the galley, a dull red showing from his pipe bowl. His earliest knowledge of our presence was when the two men closed on his windpipe, and I pressed a revolver muzzle against his cheek.

"Not a sound, Jack," I muttered sternly in Spanish, "or else your life pays for it."

The pipe fell with a click to the deck, the fellow's eyes staring up at us, his opened mouth showing oddly amid a surrounding gray board. A moment later, securely gagged and bound, we rolled his body close in against the rail.

"I thought I heard a bit of a blow and a yell on the forecastle just now, sir," said one of the men, pointing eagerly forward. I stood still, intently listening, staring into the gloom.

"Quiet enough there at present. Probably Mr. Tuttle has been attending to the forward watch. Come on, lads, and we'll join forces with him."

Beyond all doubt the main deck was clear as far as the bridge, and providing Tuttle's crew had attended to their share of the work, as far as the forecastle head as well. We advanced cautiously, keeping close within the dense shade along the weather rail, pausing a moment to peer over the edge of the open hatchway into the

JANESVILLE WOMEN ARE FINDING RELIEF AT LAST

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, hearing-down pains; they must stoop over, when stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains, and many aches from kidneyills. Kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ of the body. Keep the kidneys well and health is easily maintained. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that helps and cures the kidneys and is endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cutts, living at 108 N. Bluff St., Janesville, Wis., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills at different times for several years past whenever my kidneys needed a tonic and have always received the best of results. My system was filled with uric acid poison and other symptoms showed a disordered condition of my kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills rid me of this trouble and since then other members of my family have taken them with equally good results. I do not hesitate to say that I consider Doan's Kidney Pills one of the best kidney remedies on the market today."

"Well, I said as soon as certain of his identity, "the afterdock is ours without a blow; what have you discovered forward?"

"Two men were posted on the forecastle, sir," he returned, the disagreeable nasal tone apparent even in his subdued voice. "We got them both, but Mason was pricked with a knife during the scuffle."

"Did you close the forecastle?" I questioned briefly.

"All fast, sir, but I doubt if any of the crew are below."

"Well, there are some down in the engine room, and the fellow in charge looks as if he might fight on occasion. Take half a dozen men with you, and jump below. The Kanakas won't make any serious trouble, but you had better clap gun to the engineer."

I watched them as they swarmed like rats over the hatch-combings and dropped down into the light. There was scurrying of bodies, a sharp exchange of blows, a yelp of alarm from the startled Kanakas, a stout volley of English oaths, and when the tangle partially cleared away, the engineer was lying flat on his back, the knee of the big singer at Rodriguez's in his chest, and Tuttle holding a blue-barrel revolver at his ear. I never before held an angrier man, but he was helpless as a baby. Assured of the future of the engine room, I mounted the steps and took a hasty survey of both bridge and wheelhouse. They were unoccupied—the vessel was entirely in our possession.
